An aerial photograph showing the Three Gorges Dam and the Three Gorges Bridge. The dam is a large concrete structure with a curved spillway, surrounded by dense green forest. The bridge is a long, arched steel truss bridge spanning the river. The river is a deep green color, and the surrounding landscape is hilly and forested.

しもはんばら

An aerial photograph showing a large bridge under construction over a wide river. The bridge deck is partially completed, with a section of the road surface already laid. Several vehicles, including a white car and a yellow truck, are visible on the bridge. The bridge is supported by large concrete piers. The surrounding landscape is lush green, with dense forests on the hillsides. The river is muddy brown, and there is a large area of exposed earth and construction equipment on the right side of the bridge.
