

Main data table containing numerical values for various parameters across a grid of rows and columns.

